TYPEWRITER FAMINE

ONE RESULT OF WAR

Following as a natural result of war demands upon steel and other materials comes the announcement that there will soon be a shortage in typewriters. H. T. Savage, manager of the Remington Typewriter company in Phoenix, said yesterday that factories are "up against it" to fill orders and that in local caterers the supply of new typewriters is limited.

He said that with respect to his own make of typewriters there would be no new stock available from the factory until November 1, with only a small stock of new machines on hand here.
